A believer in good design, the role as a Kvadrat specialist, involves working closely and supporting Architects, Interior designers, Acoustic consultants and End Users achieve their design intent.

Kvadrat is a Danish textile company established in 1968, the products reflect a great commitment to colour, quality, simplicity, innovation and design. Hence its not just the textile but the design story behind every textile that lends it its timelessness and makes it a classic. Working in an environment which believes in the importance of design stories definitely strengthens my view on how stories impact design.

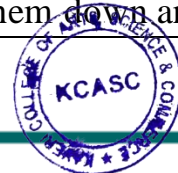

Design stories! There is an aspect of design in everything around us, manmade and otherwise. I self published a book in 2019, 'Once upon a time in Basvangudi', a documentation of the restoration and redesign of a residence in Basavangudi, it documents the historical significance of the neighbourhood, the architectural features and their relevance to the design and the restoration measures.

My design firm Design-storey was born in 2011 and ever since we have executed architecture and interior design projects in Bangalore and Tamil Nadu. We focus on achieving high standards in design and collaborate with partners in the industry. We have successfully completed some high-end residences architecture and interior design in Bangalore and commercial interiors in Bangalore for QPAve, Astones, Avanti Granites, retail design BSensitive, Sangam Sweets, AALim Hakim Salon . www.design-storey.in journey. She also discussed the concepts like skill, re-skill and up skill. She added that skill is something which you give yourself and which is timeless and keeps getting better with time. To keep learning new skills is to re-skills and continuing the scale it up to up skill. Every picture tells a story. Image depicts something and transmits messages. She displayed many images and discussed how every image can be related to a story. It was an interactive session and was very different and learning experience for the students.

I have trained as a storyteller at Kathalaya, Bangalore and have pursued storytelling at events, introduced it in my role as a designer as well as in my current role in business development.

teaching and learning is the willingness to communicate. She mentioned the ACTFL model (American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages) and gave the four 'C's- Communities, Culture, Connections, and Comparisons. She mentioned the ubiquitous nature of English as well. Dr. Bagchi also brought forth the necessity of communication in learning any language. She suggested the teachers use the three modes for teaching- Presentational, Interpersonal and Interpretative. For learners present as participants for the session, she said that if they follow the same model along with the four learning skills, Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing (LSRW), nothing would stop them from becoming the best communicators. She explained that ,'Doing Language through Literature' is one of the methods of doing English novelly. Dr. Bagchi gave a few tips on designing the teacher's English lessons by following the pre-teaching, teaching and post-teaching activities including A-V aids, interaction and games in the respective stages. She took up two poems as examples for teaching innovatively. The teaching of poems involved activities like Listening with Eyes', composing a new poem from the last line of a poem, etc. The session was filled with interaction with the participants in the session by Dr. Bagchi. At the end of the session talked about the theory of 'Multiple Intelligences' by Howard Gardiner. Around 50 participants benefited from the session.

Dr. Bagchi ended the session with a small quote by Confucius-

"I Hear and I Forget
I see and I Remember
I Do and I Understand"
