

Kannada Sangha Pune's

Kaveri College of Arts, Science and Commerce, Pune

Name of the Course: BA (English)

(2019 CBCS Pattern)

Programme Specific Outcomes

PSO1: Students will be familiarized with excellent pieces of prose and poetry in English so that they realize the strong and subtle communicative power of English language.

PSO2: They will be introduced to native cultural experiences and situations in order to develop humane values and social awareness. The linguistic competence and communicative skills of the students will be developed.

PSO3: Students will be enabled to know about the basics of literature and language, different types of literature in English, the literary devices and terms so that they understand the literary merit, beauty and creative use of language.

PSO4: They will be introduced to the basic units of language, will be prepared for detailed study and understanding of literature and language so that they become aware of the technical aspects and their practical usage and develop integrated view about language and literature.

PSO5: The students will be acquainted with the terminology in drama and its criticism (i.e. the terms used in critical analysis and appreciation of drama).

PSO6: Students will have a detailed understanding of masterpieces of English Drama from different parts of the world. They will have a developed interest to appreciate and analyze drama independently.

PSO7: Students will be acquainted with the terminology in poetry and its criticism (i.e. the terms used in critical analysis and appreciation of poems). Students will have a detailed study of a few masterpieces of English poetry. Students' awareness in the aesthetics of poetry will be enhanced and they will be empowered to read, appreciate and critically evaluate poetry independently.

PSO8: Students will have thorough knowledge about the basics, different types and aspects of novel as a literary form. They will be enabled to understand the historical development and nature of novel.

PSO9: Students will have thorough knowledge and understanding of basics, nature and historical development of literary criticism. Their literary sensibility and sense of cultural diversity will be developed.

PSO10: Students will be introduced to the best uses of language in literature and to varied cultural experiences through literature, will be enabled to become competent users of English in real life situations etc. In addition, students will be able to experience the expression of ethos and culture of India through poetry, novel etc. All these will certainly contribute to their overall personality development by improving their communicative and soft skills.
